Big Sturgeon on Trot Line.

A 400-pound fish was caught in the Sacramento river by Eugene Barion, the "musical fisherman." Barion is called the "musical fisherman" because his 200-foot trot line stretched across the Sacramento at Middle creek is equipped with a chime of twelve Swiss bells—one for each line dangling from the main line with spoon attached.

Barion's catch was a sturgeon, a big fish that measured seven feet without the head. When the sturgeon grabbed the hook every one of the twelve bells rang a clatter that awakened him from his afternoon nap in his cabin ashore.

The "musical fisherman" was unable to land his big catch alone. He had to call in the assistance of two neighbors. Barion's catch netted him $63.—Redding (Cal.) Dispatch to San Francisco Call.

Apostle of Silence.

"Could I interest you in a volume which will teach you how to become an eloquent public speaker?" asked the agent.

"I'm afraid not," answered the man at the desk. "I made my reputation in politics as a pussyfoot and the less I have to say the better off I'll be."

Inconsistent Employment.

"Is your sitting as a model just temporary?"

"No; it's a standing engagement."

The Delight of Children

The self-developed, inner-flavour of New Post Toasties bear a unique attraction for the kiddies—they even like them dry from the package for their lunches. A box of Toasties provides "eats" that will delight the children.

New Post Toasties are usually served with cream and sugar, in which form the flavour is more pronounced and the flakes more delicious. These New Toasties do not "chaff" or crumble in the package and they don't mush down in cream—both common defects of old-fashioned "corn flakes."

Then, too, notice the tiny bubbles on the flakes, produced by the quick, intense heat of a new patented process of making which imparts delightful crispness and a substantial body to the flakes.

New Post Toasties are a vast improvement over any old-style "corn flakes."

Carnation Size.

A society debutante is bemoaning the loss of a perfectly eligible beau. She can't think why. A certain florist to whom she turned back $20 worth of orchids a couple of weeks ago on a refund of $10 might be able to throw a little light on the subject. You see, he thought she looked like orchids, but she and her mamma knew she was only carnations. He knows it now, too.

Not Available This Year.

The Rev. W. H. Book, pastor of the Tabernacle Christian church of Columbus, is telling a story told him by a schoolteacher in a county not far from Bartholomew. The teacher and the township trustee were talking over plans for the annual school commencement. The question of a speaker for commencement arose.

"Let's get this here Rip Van Winkle to make the speech," suggested the township trustee.

"Who?" asked the surprised teacher.

"Why, this here Rip Van Winkle," the trustee replied. "I've heard a good deal about him and I thought maybe he might make a right smart speech."

The teacher had to tell the trustee that Rip was not available for commencement addresses this year.

WOODEN BUGLE IS HISTORIC

Instrument That It Is Alleged Was Brought to America by the Pilgrims.

R. M. Bever, living near Hillsboro, Ind., has a bugle, said to have been made in England early in the seventeenth century, according to an exchange. It is three feet long, made of cedar wood in two sections which are glued together. It is about three inches in diameter at the base and tapers uniformly to a point.

Around it are ten crude rings made from sections of a buffalo horn. It was brought to America in 1620 by the Pilgrims, it is believed, and tradition says it was carried by the army of Miles Standish in the expedition against the Indians. The earliest authentic account of it dates back to colonial days. It was used at the Boston tea party and was carried by the minute men in the battle of Lexington and Bunker Hill.

At Bunker Hill the instrument was struck by a British musket ball and a portion of the end was torn away. It was at the siege of Yorktown and helped to celebrate the surrender of Lord Cornwallis in 1781.

After the war the old bugle was handed down as an heirloom in the Bever family. Mrs. Michael Bever, the great-grandmother of the present owner, died in Tazewell county, Illinois, 45 years ago, when she was one hundred and four years old. She came into possession of the bugle when a very small girl, and later prepared a history of it. Upon her death the old heirloom was kept for a time by Joseph Bever, an old tanner of Hillsboro, and it then passed into the hands of L. M. Cooper and wife of Waynetown, from whom R. M. Bever received it five years ago.

OWE DEBT TO SERVIAN BARDS

Men of Letters Have Kept Alive the Spirit of Liberty Which Is the Country's Pride.

The schoolmaster as the citadel and hope of national aspirations is today what he was a hundred years ago, when Korais laid the foundations of Greek independence by purging the native tongue of its barbaric infections and bringing it as near as possible to the language of Pericles. It may be the professional schoolmasters, or it may be the professors, writers, poets, who constitute themselves the schoolmasters of a nation. With the hedge priests of Ireland who kept alive the national spirit under fierce persecutions stand the Servian bards who, through the centuries, kept the national soul alive under the despotism of the Turk. As applied to racial awakenings, Faust's conclusion is wrong. In the beginning is not the deed, but the word, the word that often has to be taught to a people that has forgotten it, and even when half-learned falls upon their ears from an ancient past as a call to great deeds. It is the schoolmaster and the bookmen who have stirred up and led revolutions in our own day, the intellectuals in Russia, Nansen and Sigurd Ibsen in Norway, Braga in Portugal, D'Annunzio and Martinetti in Italy, and now Pearce and his predecessors of the Gaelic league in Ireland. Among the Jews today the revival of national aspirations expresses itself, in one form, through the rebirth of the language of the Bible as a spoken tongue, a parallel strangely akin to the Gaelic renaissance.—New York Evening Post.

Yale's Famous '53.

The late George W. Smalley belonged at Yale to the class of '53, which included Isaac H. Bromley, the brilliant journalist; Henry C. Robinson, the leading Connecticut lawyer; Gen. Edward Harland of Norwich, distinguished in the Civil war; Edmund Clarence Stedman, the banker-poet; George H. Watrous, president of the New Haven road; Andrew D. White, former ambassador to Berlin and president of Cornell; Senator Tom Platt of New York; Senator Randall E. Gibson of Louisiana; Charlton T. Lewis, prison reformer and insurance expert; George Shiras, Jr., a member of the United States Supreme court; Episcopal Bishop Davies of Michigan, and Wayne MacVeagh, a leading lawyer and in Garfield's cabinet. This is quite a list for one Yale class to produce.—Waterbury American.

She Knew.

Olive, aged four years, went for a walk with her father one June morning. Hearing a bird singing by the roadside she stopped to admire his beautiful black and white coat.

"Oh, papa!" she exclaimed, "see this bobolink!"

"How do you know it's a bobolink?" asked her father.

"Cause I 'stinctly heard it bobble," was the reply.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Chestnuts.

Chestnut blight has already done damage estimated at close to $50,000,000. The disease attacks both American and European species, but does little damage to those from Japan and China. Plant breeders by crossing Japanese chestnut and native chinquapin have produced resistant trees. Some of the Chinese chestnuts are said to grow 100 feet high in their home forests.

New Talent.

"Why do you insist on taking summer boarders?"

"I like to have 'em around," replied Mrs. Cornstossel. "It's a comfort to have somebody criticise the table besides my own family."

FURRED TONGUE NO PROOF

Why It Is Supposed to Indicate Digestive Disturbance Never Has Been Explained.

Just why a furred tongue is supposed to be an indication of a disturbance of the digestive apparatus has never been explained. The Medical Record calls to mind "the respected (and feared) spinster in our community a good many years ago who had her own opinion about doctors. Urged to consult one of their fraternity when a little indisposed, she would repeat the suggestion with scorn. 'All they do,' she would say, 'is to say, "Let's see your tongue. How's your bowels?" Two dollars, please.'"

The editor says he has known physicians of the old school who could diagnose a case by looking at the tongue, just as he has known a physician who could "diagnose" a case of pneumonia in a child he had never seen before when he got ten feet away from the bed. And what is more, he could tell which side it was on and even designate the lobe affected in some cases.

Of course this is sarcasm. The editor is ridiculing the furred tongue as a symptom of trouble in the digestive apparatus.

His Identity.

We met a man with the most astoundingly lugubrious cast of countenance that we had ever seen. Gloom sat on his brow like a brooding condor on her nest and an abysmal sadness seemed devouring him.

"Ah!" said we, "we perceive that you are a celebrated wag, for in sooth, we have never before in all of woe's appointed ways beheld such a personification of wretchedness."

"No," he replied, "I am not a humorist. I feel as sad as I look. I am a pacifist, and believe that preparedness will inevitably bring on war."

"You do well to mourn your awful condition," we returned. "If you were a humorist you might get over it. But you are a dad-burned fool, and there is no help for you!"

A REMARKABLE STATEMENT

Mrs. Sheldon Spent $1900 for Treatment Without Benefit. Finally Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Englewood, Ill.—"While going through the Change of Life I suffered with headaches, nervousness, flashes of heat, and I suffered so much I did not know what I was doing at times. I spent $1900 on doctors and not one did me any good. One day a lady called at my house and said she had been as sick as I was at one time, and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made her well, so I took it and now I am just as well as I ever was. I cannot understand why women don't see how much pain and suffering they would escape by taking your medicine. I cannot praise it enough for it saved my life and kept me from the Insane Hospital."—Mrs. E. SHELDON, 6657 S. Halsted St., Englewood, Ill.

Physicians undoubtedly did their best, battled with this case steadily and could do no more, but often the most scientific treatment is surpassed by the medicinal properties of the good old fashioned roots and herbs contained in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
